THE report of the Committee of the Sanitary Board appointed to esquire into the question of mortality statistics is to the effect that the only way to improve the present mortality statistics is to have the reports of deaths occurring in the Tung Wah Hospital and amongst the Chinese comfrom either a European doctor or a Chinese doctor trained in Western medical science. As to the Tung Wah Hospital, steps have already been taken in the direction indicated, while as to the Chinese community generally it is proposed that there should be opened in various districts dispensaries free of cost, and that such doctors should Sanitary Board will not allow the svil to be be specially entrusted with the duty of as put away with the filed report of Mr. Ram. in each district. This is the point on which we have insisted on more than one occasion when discussing the fusal of the Chinese dhobies to mak use of the public laundries. The object when these laundries were erected, was provide cheap and suitable accommoda tion to the washermen to pursue their vi cation under the best sanitaty conditions, and with a plentiful supply of good water. But the dhobies vastly prefer to continue washing the tinen in little water holes, which soon become foul from not being emptie and to dry or at least get up the clothes in the expelsion of Aparchial close dent reeking with fever and other germs. They get the use of the streams free, and though the rents of the laundries are practically very low they in effect declins to pay anything for the water facilities The remedy is, however, in the hands of the Government. Let them pass an Ordinance providing that all laundries established for the washing of linen belonging to the British and foreign community shall be registered and pay a small licence fee. Further that such laundries shall be in buildings specially ANOTHER JAPANESE ATTACK ON erected for the purpose, no washing in the streams to be allowed unless with special permission, under exceptional circumstances. THE EULIPSE OF FREE-TRADE

Parhaps the most depressing and discourage ing thing about the politice of the present day is the eclipse of Free-trade among the well-todo and presumably educated chases of the community. Wherever you go, among what Bishop Warbarton called the better valgar "you see signs that the old wholesome belief in letting trade alone is dying out. The man who talk over the wine after dinner, in first-class railway carriages, or in clab smoking rooms, are almost all at bottom Protectionists. A certain number begin by declaring that of course the principle of Free trade is sound enough, and that there is no gaingaving it; but that perfunctory obvisance performed they hasten to enlarge upon the benedis of Pretention. "If only other countries world have the sense to adopt. I ree trude, nothing could be better, for pe, as well as for thew out mos they won't it's rather a dopbical game. That is a very common romark, and one constantly made by onen who mugino the med visite bastrong of reactivities at heart. But in spite of their apparent outli Protectionist bial these phrases show that the speaker has never really granged or understood the principle preschet by Mr. Cobden and Mr. Bright Union a man out say, " Even if every other country in the world were Protectionist it would be best for us to comain Free-traders. his no-called addesion to Free-trade

say that and says met ad that it is doubtful if we can click to Free trade in the face of the whole world, it in reality saying . I don't really know if I can go on buying angar and corn so cheap and saving so much overy year on beef and muttog, while you are paying to dear for it. a terribly one-sided game and if you don't look out. I may have to give it up." Yet not one in a anodred of the balancing Partiraders can ever be got to release this. They envelops the simple. proposition we have just not in a cloud of misty cheteric. They talk with pomp and emphasis of the essential necessity for reciprocity in all the transactions of commerce—as if commerce could not be trusted to look after itself and to enforce the fundamenta rule that you cot anthing for nothing and precious little for airpence" if you are a Protectionist. They wrap a tangle of aentiment and sophister round their legs in the effort to show that you can sell without buying, and that bulf the loaf is better than the whole quartern. At last, intoxicated by the exuberance of their own verbesity they discover that the teachings of the school of Cobden are cast from and out of date, and that 'our principles of action in matters of commerce ought to be reviewed in a statesmanlike and liberal spirit. For some time this sort of twaddle-we should call it twaddle to speak about reviewing in statesmanlike and liberal spirit the conclusions of the multiplication table—was reserved for private communition. Of Inte, however, it has crept into the newspapers, and, mark, not the newspapers which appeal to the uneductated and the masses but into those which are in a special some the organs of he rich and the oultivated. For example, the Pall Mall Garette speaks of the Cobden Club an if it were the repository of a sort of fessil creed-a groud to funtastically antiquated as to be almost riduculous. Its tone is of the kind which Professor Huxley might adopt towards some provincial beginty which still tried to propagate pre Darwinian theories as to the originand modifications of species. How comes it that Free-trade his suffered this colipse? We do not think that any very claborate or farefolded orphanation is required.

The answer is, we anspect, that which Dr. Johnson gave to the lady who asked him the cause of a blunder in his dictionary .- Pare igno auce. mage. I pro ignorance is the other of the recrudescence of the Protectionist spirit in society ad in the Press. It was perhaps a misfortune that the victory of Free-trade was so entire in mee who converted the nation would have seen the necessity for not putting off their armour so quickly and so completely. So atter was the out of the Protectionists, that the victors nover dreamed of a rally... Hance, the present generation grew up uninstructed in regard to the doctrine of Free trade, and took tree matter on trust. The result was akin to that which hapnone in the case of the youth brought up in a strict, mechanical and unreasoning orthodoxy. The first attack on, or denbig binted in regard to to the destrine of Free-trade encountered by the young men who had grown up since the death of Cobden seemed conclusive and one after another they fall victime to the seductions of the sceptical attitudes They have never, learnt the reasons on which Free Trade is based, and bened its partial or oven complete Serious religious riots have occurred at abandonment involves for them the surmounting the abundonment of a stale old doctrine which was believed in by people in the sixties and seventies is, per as, attractive. The principle is not old enough to be regarded with reversuce and ave, and is yet too old to attract as a noveley. The plain reason then that Freetrade is suffering an eclipse is that the present ceneration has not taken the trouble to un-The New York Herold states that detectives derstand it, and so is easily worked on by persons whose interest it is to obtain the abandon.

Even the wealth of the west could not neutralise the lust turns of the Proteon tionist screw, and the United States lies before the world in example of now that waste of national wealth men call Protection ruins nations and lays cities low. It is the same with France, Ger many, Bussin, Australia, and Italy, Protection in spite of the feverish anxiety of their raiors to husband with one hand the resources which they wasto with the other is supplied the vitals of every one of these vatious, Freetrade England, on the other hand is fat less depressed than her neighbours. She no doubt, shares to some extent the world-wide inpry caused by Protection, but Free trade combles her share to be infinitely less heavy. There 'is misery, there is poverty, there is destitution in England, but not with standing the weight of our debt, and of the Navy and Army which we are obliged to maintain, the position of the poor man On Bomsayin England is far better than that of the poor man in any country on the Continent and even better than that of the poor man in America. Not only are wages numinally higher in Free-trade England than in Protectionist countries such as France, Germany, and Austria but the purchasing power of such shilling that makes up the pound is non- v double. hirestrade then rests on common sense and logic out it also rests on experience. Protection is waste must ever be an injury to the people of this country which encourages it. That is a truth writ large across Europe and Americal in the long-run, we have not fear of bandonment of Free-trade Protection will not win in the end. As a Tory Member naively

An Anglo Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stap is unfivaled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming expresses for students of a most instructive nature. Hot the Court and Piluti produnciations are given I EW and Easy Method of LEARNING the accepts being carefully marked on the best FRENCH in a Few Months, by Con-principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of lease schieving a clearness not previously attained and dispensing with those that margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore charactorized Chinese publications, To illimitate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Distinguery about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwa is of 600,000 Chinese characfort Again despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires cramples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which be despatched on TUESDAY, the 11th have one general meaning. Of these examples September, with Mails for Japan, San Francisco,

For problidal purposes the arrangement of 12.30 P.M. Post Office closes. the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Duropeans rasiding in China, and to the natives themselves it explains embjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
